LAST YEAR'S WINNER!

"Winning this award was a shock. It was humbling, but it was great. Being a Toronto police officer means everything to me."

— Constable Kile Blanchard was named 2017 Police Officer of the Year for a sexual assault investigation involving a child.

AGENDA

Every year a panel of judges choose the officers of the year from the Toronto Police Service, based on the virtues of bravery, humanitarianism, investigative work & police skills.

On May 7, join civic and business leaders, along with the officers and their families to hear these unique stories of service beyond the call of duty.

WHO'S IN THE ROOM?

300+ city builders, business leaders & government officials from 20+ diverse organizations across 7 sectors
